(A) Wow! This smells so good and tastes just like real meat.” Kale and Aubry Walch are happy to learn that in their shop. The brother and sister team opened The Herbivorous Butcher to sell only fake meat and cheese to vegans. Their shop is really popular in the USA.

A study shows that keeping animals for food is hurting the Earth because it uses too much water. It takes more than 15,000 liters of water to get only one kilogram of beef, but it takes just 2,500 liters of water to make one kilogram of tofu. “By going vegan,” another study says, “one person can save about 830,000 liters of water a year.”

Many people are joining the Walches and going green. They are finding ways to make meat from plants and helping people eat less meat and become vegans. Some world-famous fast food restaurants are joining them, too. For example, KFC is working on vegan fried chicken, and McDonald’s is selling vegan burgers.

(B) Mike wanted to play a trick on his wife, Jenny, so he wrote her an e-mail. After Jenny read it, she wrote it back right away. Here are the e-mails.

Dear Jenny,

Today is our seventh anniversary, and I’m still crazy about you. However, I have to tell you something. I met a girl last week. She is very beautiful. Yesterday, she said to me, “I like you very much.” What should I do? Mike

Dear Mike,

You should be with her. Thank you for being so honest with me. I have something to tell you, too. I’m sorry, but I’m in love with someone else. Thanks to you, I feel much relieved. I don’t feel guilty anymore. Please move out of our house before next weekend. I wish you all the best. Jenny

- (C) A woman had two sons, and they always made fun of their friends. “How can I stop them?” she thought hard. Then, she came up with an idea. She took out a knife and cut an apple into two pieces. After that, she put them into two different glass bottles, labeled them “good” and “bad,” and put them on the dining table.

Every time the woman walked by the “good” apple, she would tell it something good, like “You’re perfect!” and “I love you.” Her boys saw that and also did the same. As for the “bad” apple, she talked to it negatively with things like, “You’re ugly!” and “You’re the worst!” And her sons did the same.

A month later, the “good” apple still looked good, but the “bad” apple was rotten. Finally, the woman was successful, and her kids learned their lesson about bullying.
